Paid summer school program a success

By NANCY WALLACE
Staff Writer

Students in the Chaffey Joint Union High School District pleased the administration this summer — they paid for school and they stayed in school.

Of the 417 students who registered for the six-week summer classes, 399 completed the full term. "They really stuck to it," Robert Erickson, assistant superintendent of instruction, observed. "We had minimal damage to our books, our supplies, our equipment... it was very successful."

The University of La Verne offered the summer school courses through the high school district, a program that has proved successful in high school districts from Kern County to San Diego County.

The university rents the facilities from the district, hires district teachers, then charges the students according to those costs. Students paid $75 for a five-unit course such as typing, and $135 for an intensive 10-unit course, such as chemistry.

"I had no complaints about that at all," Mark LaBrun, a Chaffey administrator hired by the university, said of the tuition. Instead, he said, parents expressed gratitude that the university offered the instruction. ULV's program at Upland High School — one class met at Montclair High School — was the only summer school available in San Bernardino County this year.

The university estimated it would provide instruction for about 400 students, and it filled all those spaces.

The classes averaged 25 students to one teacher, an attractive proposition to students who spent the year in rooms with 30 and 35 students to each teacher.

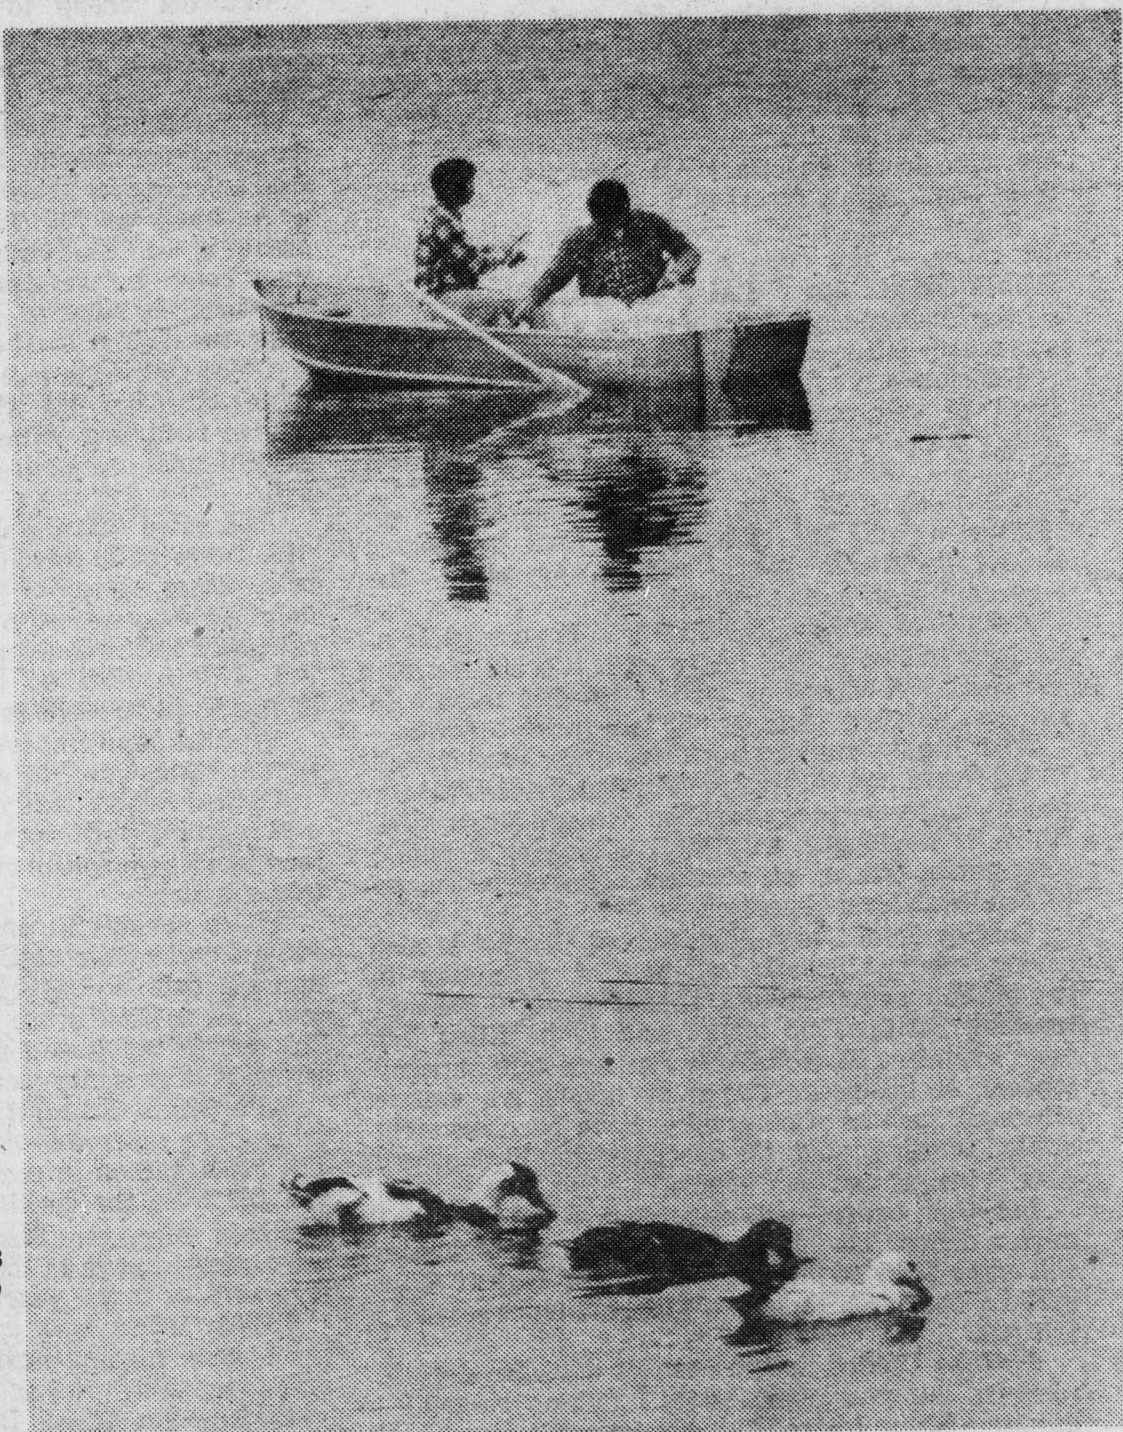

Tom McGuire, who supervised the program for the university, said many of the students enrolled to complete tougher academic courses early, allowing time during the school year for more electives. Civics, biology, typing and driver education were among the most popular courses.

Nearly all of the students were from the Chaffey district, although the program was open to any high school student who wished to attend. ULV hired all of the 13 teachers from the district, and they used instruction programs developed by the district.

McGuire said the university will continue the program at Upland High School as long as it is welcome, and Erickson said district administration approved of this pilot program.

The district ended its own tuition-free summer school program for all students in 1977, after Proposition 13 required that the district cut non-essential services. The district now offers summer school only for students in special education, and for those who fail competency exams.

McGuire said the need for summer instruction throughout Southern California will probably escalate in coming years. "It seems as though school boards are in the process of increasing graduation requirements and at the same time they're cutting the periods available," McGuire said.

TIME TO FISH — Fishermen and ducks compete for the fish at Bonelli Regional Park in La Verne. Golfers, boaters, hikers and sailors can also get plenty of exercise at the park.

Group donates funds to SACH and Pomona Valley Workshop

Gordon L. Zwissler, president of the San Antonio Community Hospital Board of Trustees, recently accepted a check for $27,000 from John L. Butler, who was representing Southern California Building Funds as its San Bernardino County chairman.

Butler said the Upland hospital was singled out for this donation because the SCBF recognizes the need for well-planned and adequate facilities in the health care field. SCBF adheres to the basic objective: requiring recipients to qualify regarding social need, sound building plans, reasonable responsibility to complete projects and operate the new facilities as planned. San Antonio Community Hospital recently completed phase one portion of its current expansion and the remainder of the building program is near completion.

The Southern California Building Fund also recently visited the Pomona Valley Workshop and presented a substantial grant toward the construction cost of the new Food Service Facility.

Southern California Building Funds operates in three counties — San Bernardino, Orange and Los Angeles. It receives donations from contributing firms and allocates funds to approved building projects. It currently supports 60 projects for hospitals, clinics, welfare and youth serving institutions. Over the years, over $18,000,000 has been distributed to 270 institutions.

At the presentation meeting, the hospital was represented by Zwissler; Gene L. Alair, chairman of the Hospital Foundation Board; and John L. Towers, hospital administrator.

Present for the donation to the Pomona Valley Workshop were Delmar Water, vice president and manager of Security Pacific Bank, Claremont; Eugene Vance, president of the Pomona Valley Workshop Board of Directors; and Gilbert A. Hanke Jr.

County offers help with heating bills

San Bernardino County will pay up to $200 of a qualifying family's heating bills through its Energy Conservation Weatherization Program.

Proof of family income and of the number of residents in the home should be brought to the Mt. Zion Baptist Church, 224 W. California St., Ontario.

Income must be $915.41 a month or less for a family of four, and is scaled up or down according to the number of dependents. To verify income, bring a check stub or a letter from the welfare office to the church from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The church can be reached by telephone at 983-2411.

Gas or electric bills must be for at least two months in order to qualify. The elderly or disabled are exempt from this regulation.

The program is only for those fuels used to heat the home and will run through Tuesday only. People who have already participated in this year's program are not eligible.

School operating budgets to be OK'd

By NANCY WALLACE
Staff Writer

School boards throughout the West Valley will approve operating budgets for 1982-83 this week, budgets precariously balanced with funds left over from last year.

These deficit budgets don't include funds for salary increases, and all districts are negotiating with teaching and non-teaching staff members who are asking for raises.

State funding was limited to that of last year, plus an emergency $50 million appropriation that amounted to "a drop in the bucket" for most West Valley school budgets. Because the costs of supplies and utilities rose this year, district business managers were forced to either cut services or dip into their "contingency reserves."

These reserves were realized from higher interest rates — the county treasurer invests school dollars not yet spent during the year — and from similar money-management strategies. The result was money left over at the end of the year.

Districts always maintain some funds in the event of unforeseen or underestimated expenses, money for a "rainy day." For some, the rain has begun.

Many districts plan to nearly deplete their reserves to pay the bills this year. If the school boards decide to grant any salary hikes, the reserves will dwindle further.

Ontario-Montclair School District is an exception. Its $33.2 million budget began with $874,000 remaining from 1981-82 and will end with $1.4 million in reserves, less any increases in salaries or benefits.

That healthy reserve from 1981-82 resulted from a hiring freeze and elimination of several non-teaching positions, Deputy Superintendent George Duerr said. There is no longer an OMSD attorney, a public information officer, no security services office, no professional development center.

Chaffey Joint Union High School District is also saving money through attrition. A reduction in graduation requirements meant several vacant teaching positions no longer had to be filled this year, explained Russell Dickinson, assistant superintendent of business. The more expensive course offerings, such as photography, have been severely limited or eliminated. He described the high school district budget as "very sterile."

But that budget will nevertheless have a $1.1 million deficit. The high school district expenditures will total $32.5 million while income is just $31.2 million; that will deplete a $1.3 million reserve to $170,000.

Fontana Unified School District will also deplete reserves this year with its $31.1 million budget — despite a hiring freeze. The district spent about half of its $2 million in reserves to pay the 1981-82 bills. This year, $945,000 of the district's $1.2 million in reserve will be needed to balance the budget. That will leave $127,000 to balance the 1983-84 budget.

"We hope the state comes through next year to pull us out of the hole," Jim Balsano, business manager, said.

Things aren't exactly rosy this year. Funds for textbooks and classrooms supplies were cut to 50 percent of the 1981-82 figures. Funds for legal services, maintenance services and other contracts were cut to 90 percent of the 1981-82 figure. Unless the board votes to somehow recast the budget, Balsano noted, there is no money for salary hikes.

Tom McGrath of Central School District isn't so sure the state will offer more money to schools next year. "I think that we will have to start a plan for reduction of service (in 1983-84) early this fall," he said. If the state doesn't allocate more money to schools next year and Central's enrollment continues to drop, McGrath said, that district will have to deal with major cuts next year, and should prepare now.

This year, the district will spend $200,000 of its $800,000 reserve to pay the $6.1 million in expenditures. That will leave $600,000 for next year — less any salary hikes, a super-sensitive issue in a district where teachers went on a one-day strike last year.

That $600,000 must also make up the losses if enrollment declines past district projections. "We're very uneasy about our enrollment," McGrath said, "...it's not cheap to live here." The declining economy is resulting in jobless families leaving the area, he said, and fewer students mean fewer state dollars.

Chino Unified School District is also facing a changing enrollment, but Business Manager Dave Bail is hoping for growth.

As many as 750 students could move into new homes in the Chino Hills mid-year, Bail estimates. If they come before April 15, the district will get additional funding to handle them. If they come after, the district must absorb the costs.

Chino Unified is already absorbing $2.2 million of its costs. After the 1981-82 bills were paid, $3.6 million remained. After this year's $36.7 million in expenditures are paid, $1.3 million is expected to be left.

Bail noted that the district wanted to reorganize some services to meet community needs as outlined in a recent survey of Chino residents. The survey found parents wanted more counseling, more safety education and more emphasis on fundamental skills. But with funding so limited, Bail explained, no changes will be made this year.

"Rather than improving, we're really maintaining our status quo," he said.

Upland School District wasn't so fortunate. Several teaching positions will not be filled for fall, and food service personnel got either pink slips or cuts in hours in June.

Those savings in personnel costs, coupled with extra income from high interest rates, resulted in a minor deficit for USD. The $12.5 million budget will take just $146,000 from the $1.1 million in reserve. The district will have a $949,000 ending balance from which to offer salary increases.

Alta Loma School District plans to use much more of its reserve to balance the budget this year. The $10.9 million in expenditures will draw nearly $700,000 from the district's $1.2 million in reserve. Business Manager Stacy Nelson anticipates the remaining reserve to dip below $500,000 because of unforeseen costs this year.

"Even if we held on to that $500,000, without more state funding next year we would never be able to make it," Nelson said.

Cucamonga School District is in a comparable position. That district is exhausting all but $500 of its $39,000 in reserve to balance a $2.8 million budget.

The funding picture for all California schools may get gloomier still, legislative analysts say.

LOCALLY OPERATED DONREY MEDIA GROUP

OMSD officials who attended Teacher Lobbying Day this month were told that because the declining economy will produce less sales and income tax revenue than anticipated, the Legislature may have to recast the budget in December. Apportionments from the state may be trimmed to below 1981-82 levels.

A little hope for increased funding to the schools yet remains. Proposals to guarantee state funding of public schools with revenue from taxes on alcohol and tobacco are still on the floor of the Assembly and state Senate as they attempt to adjourn for the year today. The California Teachers Association, the Association of California School Administrators and other educator groups are actively supporting the plans.

All-English horse show planned

The Alta Loma Riding Club will be sponsoring an All-English Open Horse Show on Sunday, Sept. 12.

The show will be held at the Heritage Park Arena, Beryl below Hillside in Rancho Cucamonga, with registration starting at 7:30 a.m. and the show beginning at 8 a.m.

Classes for the show will include Turn-Out, English Equitation and Pleasure, Walk-Trot, Saddle Seat Pleasure, Novice Classes, Schooling, Pony or Cob English Pleasure and an afternoon of exciting jumping classes over jumps from 18" to 3'3".

This is an "Open Show," which means anyone can compete for ribbons and awards during the day. There will also be high point awards for riders 14 and under and 15 and over as well as three high point hunter divisions — Baby Green Hunter, Green Hunter and Working Hunter.

The public is invited to watch the show free of charge. A grandstand and snack bar will be available on the grounds. Prospective club members may learn more about the club and also join the club at the show.

Discounts on all classes will be given to club members and those who pre-enter (pre-enteries close Sept. 8). A free class will be given anyone entering six or more classes.

Judge for the show will be Betsy Hale of Tarzana. For further information on the show or the club, call Tracy Hege, show chairman, 987-6351, or club president, Al Kopperud, 980-1538.

OCH offers CPR classes

In the coming months, thousands of people will suffer heart attacks and many thousands more will be victims of all types of injuries and illnesses when the normal action of the heart will be interrupted and breathing will stop!

Someone must deal with each of these emergencies until professional help arrives and it could be you.

Ontario Community Hospital has been active in educating citizens in the techniques of cardiopulmonary resuscitation. During 1981, over 700 people were trained in the four-hour basic life support classes and 75 received the 12-hour advance life support training.

The members of the Ontario Community Hospital Auxiliary have helped to finance the cost of the programs and there is no fee for the basic CPR course.

Instructors for the basic program are: Naida Kolliker, Susan Effron, JoAnne Banfill, Lorie

Martin, JoAnne D'Archangelo and Robin Rapp, all registered nurses, and Greg Willis, respiratory therapist. Advanced life support instructors are: Rita Carroll, Barbara Kreisler, Betty Denton and Ina Abrahmsky, all R.N.s, and Carl Stratton, registered respiratory therapist.

When an emergency strikes, knowing what to do in the first few minutes can mean the difference between life and death. To schedule classes or to learn more about the program, call Pam Hilgendorf at 984-2201, extension 249.

Chaffey College budget OK delayed

By NANCY WALLACE
Staff Writer

Chaffey Community College trustees, expecting to view and approve the 1982-83 operating budget, got the news last week that the college is in "very, very bad shape" financially and they won't see a balanced budget until this week.

Don Sorsabal, business manager, told the board he could not complete a balanced budget in time for the meeting because of last-minute changes in state funding, and that the college is not on solid financial ground. The board set a special meeting today, the last day it can approve the $19.5 million package.

The public review budget showed a $14,987 deficit after complete exhaustion of a $2.1 million beginning balance accrued this year, and all of its $17.4 million in income. Sorsabal noted that this budget could not be submitted to the county because it is not balanced, as required by law.

Forecasting further doom, Sorsabal warned that this deficit budget must be pared down by 6 to 8 percent because the anticipated state apportionment may be cut further by $900,000.

Sorsabal did not detail where these additional cuts will be made. As with most school budgets, personnel salaries and benefits make up more than 80 percent of the expenses. He said he planned to make these adjustments this week.

The trustees did receive a piece of good news when Superintendent/President Sam Ferguson reported that home economics courses have been restored to the list of classes the state will fund.

Last month, the state legislature eliminated state funding for "avocational, recreational and personal development" courses, a move that saved the state an estimated $30 million.

That meant a loss of students at Chaffey of 200 in average daily attendance. With the home economics courses restored to the list of credit courses for which the state will pay, only an estimated 164 ADA will be lost. The college receives about $1,300 per ADA.

Two-county unemployment rate jumps to 13.6% in July

A large reduction in the number of local education personnel brought on by the end of the school year was a major factor that caused unemployment in the San Bernardino-Riverside Labor Market Area to jump to 13.6 percent in July, figures from the state Employment Development Department show.

The unemployment rate in the two-county area climbed a full 2 percentage points from the 11.6 level recorded in June. The July 1982 figure was more than 4 points higher than the 9.2 percent unemployment rate in July of 1981.

In July there were 87,400 people seeking jobs in the area while 556,000 were employed, 4,000 fewer than in June.

Employment Development Department analysts said unemployment was expected to remain at the current high level through August and start to decline in the fall as summer jobseekers withdraw from the labor force and employment in seasonal industries, such as services, government and agriculture, increase.

Government jobs declined by 7,500 from June to July, primarily because of the end of the school year. However, total government jobs in July showed a 1,000 increase from a year ago — 94,900 jobs this year compared to 93,900 in July of 1981.

Service industries also experienced a cutback of 1,400 jobs in July as private education facilities and desert area hotels lowered employment. However, in the past year total employment in this sector has increased by 1,900 jobs.

Upland skater to tour with Ice Capades

By NANCY WALLACE
Staff Writer

Jennifer Eckman of Upland loves to perform, to express herself without being judged; she's found her niche in one of the largest entertainment companies in the country.

It didn't take Eckman long to find her niche. At 19, she is one of the youngest principal skaters with the Ice Capades, and will begin touring with the North American national company Sept. 1.

Eckman can compete, too; she entered amateur competitions shortly after she began to walk. Through her years at Chaffey High School, Eckman had little social time, and no television; just skating two hours before school, and four hours after school.

That won her fourth place in the Southwest

Regional championships before she graduated; she treasures that honor most, Eckman said, because the best of the best train in Southern California, making a California competition nearly as difficult as a world competition.

"You don't learn to skate on a pond; Southern California has the most rinks anywhere," she said. "The best coaches and trainers are here. People come from all over the world to train in the Los Angeles area."

But the regimentation and tensions of amateur figure skating in Southern California became unattractive to Eckman after 12 years. So one month after graduation in 1980, she auditioned for the Ice Capades at a show in Long Beach; soon she got the phone call.

Eckman became a professional, albeit in "the line," at the advanced age of 17. She spent her second year in Ice Capades as an understudy for a principal artist, and will begin her third year as a principal skater in September.

"It's a whole different type of skating; you're not performing for a bunch of judges," Eckman said. "It's more fun; you learn to express yourself with different parts of your skating."

Still, she sometimes misses the thrill of competition.

"Competition is a lot of pressure; you're doing a lot of hard jumps," she said. "But I'm very competitive. I like the feeling of getting out there and doing my best. You learn a lot of discipline."

And she misses her parents.

Eckman credits her early success in the industry to supportive parents.

Blood Bank commemorates 30 years of service

The Blood Bank of San Bernardino and Riverside Counties has commemorated 30 years of community service with donor recognition and the opening of the new Donor Center in Ontario.

More than 100,000 gallons of blood have been donated for hospital patients through the Blood Bank in the last 30 years. At least 225 of those gallons were donated by 20 people, each giving the "Gift of Life" at least 80 times. Two individuals have donated over 120 times each.

Especially honored by the Blood Bank during its anniversary celebration at a reception were the 10 gallon donors. Members of the board of directors presented plaques from the American Association of Blood Banks denoting the number of gallons given. William Nash of Riverside, board president, and Dr. Arthur Silvergleid of Redlands, medical director, voiced the appreciation of the Blood Bank and recipients of blood and components to each donor honored.

Just 45 minutes after the doors opened at the new Donor Center, the first donor, Robert Acosta, came in to replace blood needed by a family friend.

A Blood Bank spokesman noted that the need for blood in the two-county area served by the Blood Bank has doubled in the last 10 years. The Ontario facility — located at Fourth Street and Vineyard Avenue in the Stater Bros. Shopping Center — became necessary because the population has grown steadily and rapidly.

"To meet the blood needs of all patients in the area, it is necessary for each community to participate in its own blood program to preclude one area relying on another," a Blood Bank spokesman said. "Community blood drives in western San Bernardino County will continue to play an important part in meeting the need. The new permanent facility will make it more convenient for donors who will not have to drive to San Bernardino or Riverside to donate between scheduled community blood drives as they did before."

Hours at the new Donor Center are from noon to 6 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Fridays.

During the opening ceremonies, officials of each of the five West Valley cities, chambers of commerce, county, state and federal representatives participated in the ribbon-cutting ceremonies. Ontario Mayor Robert Ellingwood welcomed the Blood Bank to the city and introduced other area officials.

The Blood Bank of San Bernardino-Riverside Counties is a private, non-profit community organization, which was opened on June 19, 1951, to provide for the blood needs of the two counties.

VNA to present seminar in home care supervision

The Visiting Nurse Association of Pomona-West End Inc. will present a seminar on "Supervision in Home Care" on Sept. 13, 14 and 15 at Griswold's Indian Hill Inn in Claremont.

Designed for supervisors of home care nurses, home health aides, homemakers and rehabilitative services deliverers, the course will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day. Fifteen continuing education hours will be given for registered nurses and licensed vocational nurses.

The course topics include: "Characteristics of Persons Needing Care at Home," "The Home Supervisor," "Supervision: Roles, Responsibilities," "Functions of Supervision," "Skills and Techniques for Effective Supervision," "The Supervisor and Case Management" and "The Supervisor and Service Management."

Instructor will be Nola Aalberts, program director of the National HomeCaring Council. She received her bachelor of arts degree from Gustavus Adolphus College in St. Peter, Minn., and her master of science degree in management from the University of South Florida.

The workshop is limited to 30 registrants, and the seminar fee is $30.

For more information, call the VNA at 624-3574.

The Visting Nurse Association is a private, non-profit licensed home health agency providing skilled nursing care and other professional and paraprofessional services on an intermittent basis to patients in their homes. Services include nursing, enterostomal therapy, hospice care, home health aide, homemakers, physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, medical social worker and dietician. VNA is certified for Federal Medicare and Medi-Cal and is an accredited agency of the National HomeCaring Council.

4-H council president named

Kevin Johnson of the Monte Vista 4-H Club has been named president of the West End District of the San Bernardino County 4-H Council, one of five councils in the district.

Lyle Farmer of the Fontana Pacemakers is the new president of the San Bernardino/Redlands District.

Johnson, 16, is a seven-year member of 4-H. A student at Chino Hills High School, he holds the rank of Eagle Scout and was selected 4-H All-Star this year.

His 4-H projects have been citizenship, dog care and training, automotive work and woodworking. He said his goals as district president are to encourage 100 percent club representation at all local district programs. In addition, his aim is for more productive monthly meetings.

A spokeswoman said Johnson is the first youth member to be elected district council president in San Bernardino County.

Farmer, a former 4-H member from Kansas, has four grown children who also are 4-H alumni. He has been sheep and club leader for the last 14 years. In addition, he served as a county council officer for seven years and currently is county council treasurer.

A Little League baseball manager for 10 years, he also serves as an umpire.

Sign-ups for Rancho Rebels 4-H

The Rancho Rebels 4-H Club of Rancho Cucamonga has scheduled a sign-up and get acquainted night for Thursday, Sept. 16. The meeting is scheduled from 7 to 8:30 p.m., at the Lions Community Center, 9161 Baseline Road, Rancho Cucamonga.

This is a very active club in the area and offers a horse project and rabbit project to residents of Rancho Cucamonga, Etiwanda and Upland from the ages of 9 through 18.

The 4-H year runs from September through June and all old and new members are urged to attend this meeting so they will get on the mailing list for future meetings and activities.

Mrs. Sue Draper is in her sixth year as leader of the horse group. Some of the meetings will feature talks by local veterinarians, trainers, farriers, and breeders of horses, plus a speaker from Cal Poly Pomona. Activities of the year include a parade, horse shows, foal watch and trips to Cal Poly, Santa Anita and a Peruvian Paso ranch. For further information on the horse group, contact Mrs. Draper at 987-6459.

The rabbit group has a busy schedule planned under the leadership of Mrs. Sharon Kourtis. Meetings will include speakers from rabbit ranches, rabbit judges and veterinarians, plus demonstrations on how to show and care for rabbits. Activities include traveling to rabbit shows and farms and participating in parades and fairs. For more information on the rabbit group, contact Mrs. Kourtis at 989-1332.

Members need not own a horse or rabbits to join the club.

Saw Dusters to hold square dance

The Saw Dusters Square Dance Club (Mainstream plus) will have their regular monthly dance on Saturday, Sept. 18. This month the group will resume dancing at the Sycamore Elementary School, 225 W. Eighth St., Claremont.

This dance will be called by John Reitmajer and the Crosbys will cue the round dances starting at 7:30 p.m.

The Saw Dusters and the Rancho Cucamonga Community Services Department will co-sponsor a beginning square dance class. It will start Thursday, Sept. 23 and continue through four, nine week sessions.

Registration will be accepted for the first three classes only. Lou Sperling is the instructor and the class will include all of the Mainstream and Plus dance positions. The classes will be held in the Rancho Cucamonga Neighborhood Center, 9791 Arrow Highway (at Archibald), 8 to 10 p.m. Thursday evenings. Couples may pre-register prior to Sept. 23, by calling 989-1851, extension 213.

Toastmasters Club offers program

Ever been at a loss for words at a meeting? Ever envied how a co-worker could get a point across? Like to know how to chair a meeting effectively?

For $10 and eight evenings the Diamond Bar Toastmasters Club's Speechcraft program will improve your communication and leadership skills.

The first meeting begins Sept. 22, 7 p.m. at the Diamond Bar Library on Grand near Diamond Bar Boulevard. For more information or to register, call Mary Gaslan at 594-1542.

Mental health lecture to be given

A free Community Mental Health lecture will be held at Charter Oak Hospital on Tuesday, Sept. 21, at 8 p.m. The topic, "Adolescent Truancy and School Refusal," will be discussed by Gregg A. Sentenn, M.D., Director of Adolescent Services at the hospital, and Associate Clinical Professor at the Department of Psychiatry, Loma Linda University.

Dr. Sentenn will explore the treatment of truancy, the psychological components of truancy and the effects of truancy on the family.

Following the discussion, an opportunity will be provided for questions and answers.

The lecture will be held in the Charter Oak Hospital auditorium, 1161 E. Covina Blvd., Covina. Free parking will be available.

For additional information, phone Paul Bodner, Director of Community Relations, at (213) 966-1632.

Pomona College to open on Thursday

President David Alexander will officially open the fall semester at Pomona College in Claremont during convocation ceremonies scheduled Thursday.

For the prelude and procession at 11 a.m. in Bridges Hall of Music, William J. Peterson, college organist, will play "Trumpet Tune" by Henry Purcell. The Rev. M. Francis Meskill, chaplain of the Claremont Colleges, will give the invocation. Herbert B. Smith, John Sutton Miner professor of history, will read the Pomona College Chapter, I Corinthians 13. Members of the Pomona College Choir will sing

"With a Voice of Singing" by Kenneth Jennings with Jon D. Bailey conducting and Douglas C. Frankenfild of the class of 1985 playing the trumpet.

The welcome to students by Paul A. White, student body president, will be followed by announcements and awards. This year's convocation address will be given by R. Fred Zuker, dean of admissions and financial aid.

The program will end with the singing of "Hail, Pomona, Hail" and the recessional and postlude "Fugue in E Flat" by J.S. Bach.

Preschool to open in D.B.

The Diamond Bar Friends Christian School and Pre-School will open Sept. 13. Located at 1201 Brea Canyon Road, Walnut, the school accepts children ages 2 (potty trained) through kindergarten.

Special two mornings, three morning or five full-day programs are offered to meet individual needs in the preschool. Each day the children participate in two crafts based upon simple Bible stories and the experiential theme for the week. Older preschoolers also work with kindergarten readiness materials to develop their fine motor and academic skills. All children enjoy many other developmental activities each day.

Kindergarten hours are from 8:45 a.m.-3 p.m. Morning and afternoon day care is available for those who need it. The school offers a strong phonics based academic curriculum, which allows kindergarteners to begin reading immediately and challenges them in a relaxed atmosphere in all academic areas.

The school will be expanding grade levels each year through sixth grade. For more information or registration, contact the Diamond Bar Friends Christian School at 594-4509.

Lifeline system means help is just a push button away

By LINDA BERGSTEDT
Panorama Editor

Because of a new mechanical device, Ruth George, 80, of Pomona can continue to live an independent life, knowing medical help is just a push button away.

Mrs. George, who is paralyzed on her left side, is the first client for the Lifeline system that has been installed at Doctors' Hospital of Montclair.

Lifeline, a personal emergency response system, is designed to help elderly, disabled or ill people live independently, and remain assured that they will be helped should an emergency occur.

Through electronic equipment installed in the subscriber's home and in the hospital, the Lifeline system provides for 24-hour/day monitoring by trained personnel. At the first indication of trouble, the subscriber pushes a button and the Lifeline Communicator, which is attached to the subscriber's telephone, dials the Lifeline Response Center and transmits an emergency signal.

When the emergency signal is activated, a digital message is sent to the 24-hour Emergency Responder Center, where it is automatically printed.

In addition to the electronic equipment, the Lifeline system relies on hospital emergency coordinators and neighborhood responders — people selected by the subscriber who are willing to respond in the event of an emergency, such as family and neighbors.

Once the emergency signal has been received at the hospital, the Lifeline coordinator reads the subscriber code from the printed tape and retrieves the subscriber's information card with name, address, telephone number, a brief statement of medical or physical problems and a list of responders. Also on the list are municipal response agencies such as police and ambulance, which would come in the event the volunteers were not available.

At the hospital, the coordinator immediately telephones the subscriber. If the client can get to the telephone, the coordinator evaluates what help may be needed. The coordinator then can effect the proper response having all the information in terms of subscriber location and service needs. If the subscriber does not answer the phone, the coordinator assumes he/she is injured and unable to move. Immediate action then is taken to contact a responder who can arrive on the scene quickly.

If the subscriber is unconscious and unable to press the button, a clock-timer in the Lifeline Communicator at the subscriber's home will initiate an emergency call. The timer can be set for 12 or 24 hours and is reset manually by pushing the reset button on the unit. Lifting the telephone handset during normal use automatically resets the timer. Thus Lifeline serves as an unobtrusive monitor that the subscriber is active.

Monthly telephone calls to the subscriber to test the system reinforce the feeling of being in touch with the hospital. The Lifeline system in its entirety reassures subscribers that they are never alone — they can get help if they need it.

To Mrs. George's daughter, Earline Landreth, the Lifeline will "be a big help. You always are uneasy about something happening when you can't be here all the time," she said during a telephone interview from her mother's home.

"Mother's muscles aren't as strong as they once were," Mrs. Landreth said. Mrs. George falls easily and can't get up and could lie there for hours.

"I feel so fortunate to have found an answer. Until now, I hadn't been able to find anything that satisfied me."
